Originally from Pennsylvania in the US, Richard has worked as an Orthopaedic specialist for the last 25 years. His interest in all aspects of wildlife started when he lived in North America and never really stopped when he moved to Pegwell. His home is adjacent to the Sandwich and Pegwell Bay National Nature Reserve. He took a sabbatical from work in 2009 as Biodiversity Warden but has been a Volunteer since 2006 covering many aspects from Leading Tasks, Monitoring, Recording and Leading guided walks, and has been a trustee of the Kent Wildlife Trust for 9 years. As a local resident, he is a valuable link between the local community and KWT's biggest nature reserve as well as the Chairman of the Pegwell & District Association a Conservation Charity.
